

Riccardo Mazzucchelli works as Public Information Specialist in the IPPC Secretariat, hosted in FAO, and has been supporting the International Year of Plant Health 2020, amongst other activities. Riccardo came back last year from a two-year experience in Latin America, where he coordinated a project aiming to greater harmonisation of exports amongst Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru. He focused on the cocoa value chain in Ecuador and coffee exports in Colombia. Previously, Riccardo has collaborated with several universities to involve IR students in the activities of international organizations such as FAO, and one of his initiatives that took place precisely in FAO received the Medal of the President of the Republic of Italy in 2015.
